In mathematics, a manifold is a topological space that locally resembles Euclidean space near each point. More precisely, each point of an  $n$ -dimensional manifold has a neighbourhood that is homeomorphic to the Euclidean space of dimension  $n$ . In this more precise terminology, a manifold is referred to as an  $n$ -manifold. One-dimensional manifolds include lines and circles, but not figure eights ...

In topology, a branch of mathematics, a topological manifold is a topological space (which may also be a separated space) which locally resembles real  $n$ -dimensional space in a sense defined below. Topological manifolds form an important class of topological spaces with applications throughout mathematics. All manifolds are topological manifolds by definition, but many manifolds may be equipped ...

Of the countless number of texts entitled "Advanced Calculus", this is probably the most mathematically rigorous and challenging. Despite the title, this is a classic textbook written by two of the 20th century's preeminent mathematicians on the topic of abstract analysis in Banach spaces and the calculus of differentiable manifolds.
